Assure Medispa: the specialists

Gremlins.....

I think the gremllins got into some people's August newsletter so I'm sending it again - hopefully gremlin-free this time! Apologies to those who got the funny version on Wednesday; and apologies to those who didn't because now you'll have it twice!

And a big thank you to Julie who let me there was a problem reading our newsletter - it looked fine at my end but, of course, everyone's computer is different and if Julie hadn't told me I'd never have known.

Meet our staff - Emma

Emma is one of our receptionists and has been with us since December last year. Emma, originally from New Zealand, moved to Australia in search of adventure - and some better weather.

Emma trained as a beauty therapist in Dunedin, and must have a yen for studying because this month she's starting school again to become a dental nurse. The next twelve months are going to be busy for Emma as she balances work and study.

In her spare time, Emma and her partner Tim are building a house - no small chore!

If you visit Assure Medispa Monday to Wednesday, it will be Emma who greets you.

Or, if you or any of your friends call us on 9380 0380 it will be Emma who answers the call.

Or email specialists@assuremedispa.com.au.

A successful camouflage...

A couple of weeks ago, we had a client who had a scar on her forehead following a car accident. Everything that could be done surgically had already been done, and she was feeling a bit frustrated. She was a young, attractive girl who wasn't looking forward to the rest of her life with a disfiguring scar.

We were able to very successfully camouflage the scar with Glo Minerals makeup. We showed her how to make the camouflage last all day and into the evening. Her two products cost $147; and two applicator brushes cost $102; a very modest expense for a life-changing result.

Altogether a great outcome. This client has quite dark skin as she is from Africa, but camouflage can be successful on everyone from the very fair to the very dark.

If you have a scar, birthmark, post-inflammatory hyperpigmentation or any other condition you would like to camouflage, please ring 9380 0380 or email specialists@assuremedispa.com.au to book your appointment.
